VERDICT IS FOUND

POSSIBLE THAT SWAUGER MAY HAVE BEEN MURDERED

Twenty-Seven Witnesses Were Examined During the Eight Days the Jury Deliberated—Jury Is Satisfied That Swauger Was Killed By a Westbound Train—Evidence Deemed Conclusive That He Was Intoxicated.

So far as the verdict rendered by the coroner's jury that has been examining into the cause of the death of Seymour Swauger, is concerned, it throws no light upon the manner in which the man met his end. This morning, after eight days of deliberation and the examination of 27 witnesses, the jurymen brought in their verdict. It is a strong supposition that Swauger came to his death in some foul manner, and the jury made a strong effort to trace down all circumstances and clues that would tend to confirm the belief.

Full Text of Verdict.

The verdict follows:
"Seymour Swauger came to his death by being run over by a train on the Oregon Railroad & Navigation company road, one and one-half miles west of Bingham Springs, on the night of October 21, or the morning of October 22.

"The evidence shows that he left Pendleton while in an intoxicated condition, on an eastbound train at 7 o'clock in the evening. The evidence and location of the body and clothing when found indicate that he was killed by a westbound train."

The jury was composed of the following: J. A. Blackley, A. Schmidt, C. C. Hendricks, H. E. Laatz, T. E. Morgan and Joseph Dunn.

Inquest Cost $291.40.

To arrive at the conclusion that Swauger met his death by being run over by a west-bound train, an expense of $291.40 was incurred. Twelve of the witnesses came from La Grande, a distance of 75 miles. Each witness receives $1.50 for his testimony and mileage at the rate of 10 cents a mile each way. Witnesses residing in this city receive 20 cents in mileage in addition to the $1.50 for testifying.

The jurors were compensated at the rate of $1 per day. To this is added 40 miles at 10 cents a mile for the trip to the scene of the killing, and return, and 20 cents additional for each of the other seven days.

The coroner receives $5 for holding the inquest, to which is added the trip to Bingham Springs and 20 cents a day for seven days. For serving summons on the jury and witnesses and taking testimony possibly $10 more is added to his compensation.

In addition to the mileage of the other witnesses, two of them were taken to the scene of the death, incurring an additional expense of $5.

CASE AND BROOM CORN.

Two New Crops That Are Being Grown in the Echo District by Winter Irrigation.

Elmer Reeves and W. W. Wolf, residing four miles west of Echo, this year raised experimental crops of both amber cane, or sorghum, and broom corn, both crops maturing and producing heavy yields, with nothing but winter irrigation, or flooding of the ground at the time the seed was planted.

The sorghum yielded 200 gallons of finished product to the acre, which sells readily at 75 cents per gallon. The actual cost of producing an acre of this crop is $50, leaving a net profit of $100 per acre.

The broom corn is a first-class article of feed as well as a marketable commodity for broom making. Specimens of the growth over 11 feet in height, were sent to the St. Louis fair and are now on exhibition at the office of Frank Van Cleave, at Echo.

Samples of the corn and sorghum were exhibited by the Echo delegation at the meeting of irrigators in this city last evening.

TO THE PUBLIC.

Clerks' Union of Pendleton Makes a Statement Regarding the Paul Strain Difficulty.

Pendleton, Ore., November 1.
To the East Oregonian:—In reply to the way in which the merchants and clerks of this city have been insulted by a would-be merchant, the Clerks' Union wishes to state to the public that on last Friday night about 10 members of the Clerks' Union went to the corner of Court and Johnson streets, after the closing of their places of employment, to induce the public not to trade after 6 o'clock. They proceeded in an orderly manner when almost immediately there appeared at the doorway of the Hub, this man Strain, with a bell and a bellows, who commenced to abuse the Clerks' Union and merchants for interfering with his further buncoling of the workmen, as he called his customers.

Strain was not mobbed, nor was he rotten egged. Three good, fresh eggs were dropped on the sidewalk, presumably by someone he had hired. No women were insulted as none passed by his door, but several women were in the crowd enjoying Strain's antics. In his abuse, he used profane language, and the marshal happening along at the time, ordered him to report at the recorder's office in the morning. In reply to this Strain said the recorder, like the marshal, was an Irish Jew and had a "stand in."

In order to prove to the public that Strain is not selling a bankrupt stock, as he says he is, the following messages are given in evidence:

Pendleton, October 29.
To the Sheriff, Des Moines, Iowa:
Did Paul Strain, of Portland, buy the Sterling Clothing Company's bankrupt stock of $135,000, at 40 per cent discount and ship to Portland? Answer at length. Clerks' Union, Pendleton.

The following reply was received:
Des Moines, Iowa, Oct. 31.
Pendleton Clerks' Union:
No such company as Sterling Clothing Company ever in Des Moines, and no bankrupt stock sold recently.

JOHN C. LOPER, Sheriff.

The Love of Eating.

IS THE AMERICAN BECOMING A GOURMAND?

In our largest centers of population, such as New York and Chicago, we daily see more attention given to the inner man. Cafes and lunch-rooms are filled with men and women who seem to give all their time and attention to thoughts of properly or improperly feeding their stomachs. "It is of course best to eat slowly, but not too much," says Dr. Pierce, chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y. In this 20th century people devote so much time to head work that their brain is lagged and there isn't sufficient blood left to properly take care of the other organs of the body. The stomach must be assisted in its hard work—the liver started into action—by the use of a good stomach tonic, which should be entirely of vegetable ingredients and without alcohol. After years of experience in an active practice, Dr. Pierce discovered a remedy that suited these conditions in a blood-maker and tissue-builder. He called it Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery—an alternative extract that assists in the digestion and assimilation of the food in the stomach—so that the blood gets what it needs for food and oxidation, the liver is at the same time started into activity and there is perfect elimination of waste matter. When the blood is pure and rich, all the organs work without effort, and the body is like a perfect machine.

Fact! Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for the book in paper covers, or 31 stamps for the cloth-bound volume. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.
